I am a professional illustrator based in Jerusalem, Israel, with a background in theatre design and more than a decade of experience creating artwork for publishers, authors, and private clients worldwide. My work spans children's books, young adult fiction, book covers, and narrative illustration.

I am particularly interested in graphic novels, historical fiction, literary illustration, and character-driven storytelling. Working primarily in charcoal, pencil, and digital media, I strive to create atmospheric images that combine strong draftsmanship with emotional depth and a sense of narrative.

I am currently seeking representation to expand my work in publishing and to develop long-form graphic novel and author-illustrator projects.
